Headline:
Rain at first Tuesday, mainly dry and bright by afternoon.

Today:
Cloudy with rain and drizzle at first, mainly around the Great Glen and through Speyside, but this will clear through the morning, with drier and brighter conditions by the afternoon, though one or two showers and rather cool northwest winds. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Tonight:
Still the odd shower around the northwest, but mainly dry with clear spells overnight. Winds falling mainly light with a frost developing, though breezy over Caithness until late in night. Minimum temperature -4 deg C (25 deg F).

Wednesday:
A mainly dry, bright day with spells of sunshine and light winds. Still the odd shower possible in north and rather cool out of the sun. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
High pressure bringing mainly dry and settled conditions, with bright or sunny spells by day, but rather cool with frost at night.
